COMPANY PROFILE - CURRENT POSITION

The Norwegian Cancer Society

The Norwegian Cancer Society is one of the largest organisations in Norway representing the voices of those affected by cancer.

In 2017, the organisation had 118 000 members, 25 000 volunteers and 190 employees, who are all dedicated to promoting cancer cause.

NCS works continuously to improve society's attitude to the prevention and treatment of cancer. We fight cancer locally, nationally and globally through research and preventive measures, information, support, advice and lobbying.

NCS leads the way. We have introduced a number of vital improvements within the field of cancer. Mammogram screening, the Norwegian Cancer Registry, the Varde centres for patients and their families, and cancer coordinators in the municipalities are just some of the measures we have initiated.

NCS receives funding. The revenues we receive are from bequests, gifts, membership fees and lottery funds. NCS's objectives as enshrined in the Articles of Association are to work to prevent and reduce cancer, and to improve quality of life for patients and their families.

The Norwegian Cancer Society has eight regional offices in Norway located in Oslo, Bergen, Kristiansand, Stavanger, Tønsberg, Trondheim, Hamar and Tromsø.

Our vision: Together we create hope.
